Note: Curiosity Chronicles' new edition has added civilizations that were not included in the original volume. Therefore, Torchlight has grouped most of them after the initial 36 week program. This is to avoid pairing civilization that are not relevant or related in some way, which can create confusion. You can choose to read these following the 36 weeks, but all in the same week, separated by a couple days, if you wish. You may also choose to spread them out further and do one scheduled reading a week, if that is a better fit. These weeks will eventually have some Torchlight materials added to them to extend the learning, much like the link provided in Week 39. Upon the next update, this schedule might change. Until then, we felt it most important to help our users with the scheduling.
